

ABSTRACT

Systems and methods determine whether samples of a multimedia presentation are being processed in a multi-component pipeline in a timely manner. If samples are not being processed in a timely manner, various actions are taken to correct the timeliness issues.